

Don't Have More Than Two

Like bacteria growing in a petri dish
Human beings rely on the earth to live
We consume, create waste, reproduce and spread
And if numbers keep on rising soon we'll all be dead
It's a simple equation when you add it up We're taking too much from a finite cup
The natural abundance of life and its needs is being destroyed by industrial scale greed

Don't have more than two
If you love your children
Don't have more than two
For them to have a future
Help us to survive
Don't have more than two

Even now we endanger life in the sea with overfishing and pollution by you and me Global crop cultivation using bad pesticides is killing off bees, which is suicide, suicide

Our leaders talk the talk but don't keep their pledges Ignoring our petitions and our protest marches.
They won't take global warming seriously
But a major difference we can make, you and me is...

Why can't we see that more humans on earth would make a growing eco-crisis a whole lot worse?
If two adults had two children or less then in time the total number of people would slowly decline Instead the world population continues growing with a culture obsessed with trivia and bling
If you really love your children then protect the earth
Don't have more than two
when you decide to give birth!

Daemons

I'm not gonna
let the daemons in
I feel them coming
and there's cracks in my skin
Breathe deep and count to ten

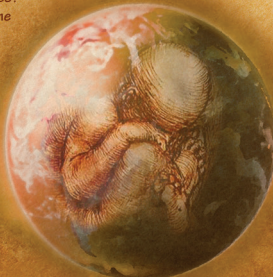

Running running,
running away
Running running

I wanna reach higher ground
I wanna climb above the flames
I wanna leave behind the roaring sound
I wanna fly away

I can't escape
There's nowhere to hide
I have to face them use my will to survive
I feel so alive

I'm not gonna

Understand

I'm walking along in a dream
The sun bursts through the clouds
Nothing's quite as it seems The more you figure it out the harder it gets some how

Don't try to understand Just go with the flow
The more you understand the less you really know

There's a soft breeze sighing in the air
The earth is spinning round but my feet are on the ground I'm travelling on with you my friend
No matter where we go we're walking the same road
